10.00-11.00

Antonio Fábregas, Norwegian University of Science and Technology, Trondheim
Prefixes, scalarity and the internal structure of degree predicates

11.00-11.30 Coffee break

WORKSHOP SESSIONS

WORKSHOP 1

Boundaries and continua in affixation: diachronic and synchronic perspectives

(conference room 1, Platon building, ground floor)

Convenors:

Alexandra Bagasheva, Sofia University, Bulgaria,
Jesús Fernández Domínguez, Granada University, Spain,
Akiko Nagano, Shizuoka University, Japan,
Vincent Renner, Lyon University, France

11.30-12.00

Jesús Fernández-Domínguez, University of Granada, Spain
Between low productivity and obsolescence: When does an affix die?

12.00-12.30

Hilary Wynne & Aditi Lahiri, University of Oxford, UK
The phonological effects of affixation on morphological processing

12.30-13.00

Elisa Mattiello, University of Pisa, Italy

From compounding to affixation: Splinterrific and affixoidwise

13.00-14.45 Lunch break

14.45-15.15

José A. Sánchez Fajardo, University of Alicante, Spain

Nikos Koutsoukos, University of Patras, Greece

On the road to Clutterville from Tidytown: A morphosemantic analysis of evaluative suffixoids -ville and -town in American English

15.15-15.45

Yingfei Lu, Pompeu Fabra University, Spain

Word Element Hyper- in English neologisms: Transitional directionality between derivation and compounding

15.45-16.15

Ryohei Naya, University of Tsukuba, Japan

Takashi Ishida, Hiroshima Shudo University, Japan

Retrieving be- from derivational morphology: Its parallelism with lexical aspectual verbs

16.15-16.30 Coffee break (refreshment room, Platon building, ground floor)

16.30-17.00

Fabio Montermini, CNRS & Université de Toulouse, France

On the hybrid nature of affixoids in French

17.00-17.30

Salma Corral-Morjani, University of Granada, Spain

The Interaction of semantics and morphosyntax in English synthetic compounds

17.30-18.00

Alessandro Rossi, Roma Tre University, Italy

Morphological conversion in Hittite: Some remarks on the boundaries between affixation and conversion in Indo-European studies

WORKSHOP 2

Latest developments in evaluative morphology

(conference room 2, Platon building, ground floor)

Convenors:

Dimitra Melissaropoulou, Aristotle University of Thessaloniki, Greece

Angeliki Efthymiou, Democritus University of Thrace, Greece

11.30-12.00

Jack Hoeksema, University of Groningen, The Netherlands

Pejorative and laudative prefixoids in Dutch

12.00-12.30

Ivan Lacić, University of Bologna, Italy

Rivalry in Italian intensifying prefixation: an analysis of discriminative features

12.30-13.00

Jakub Sláma, Czech Academy of Sciences, Czech Republic

The emergence of the evaluative prefixoids homo- and ezo- in Czech as a reflection of social attitudes

13.00-14.45 Lunch break

14.45-15.15

Angeliki Efthymiou, Democritus University of Thrace, Greece

Exploring non-prototypical evaluative constructions: characteristics and types in Modern Greek

15.15-15.45

Lior Laks, Bar-Ilan University, Israel

The evaluative function of -a in Hebrew feminine formation

15.45-16.15

Daria Savina, Maria Satina, Lomonosov Moscow State University, Russia

Evaluative morphology in the languages of northeastern Eurasia: typological peculiarities

16.15-16.30 Coffee break (refreshment room, Platon building, ground floor)

16.30-17.00

Dimitra Melissaropoulou, Aristotle University of Thessaloniki, Greece

On the borrowability of evaluative markers and categories: insights from the Greek dialectal landscape
